Searching for DVD/VHS/Film

KU Libraries Video Tutorial
You can determine if KU Libraries owns a certain video, dvd, or other project by setting search limits in the online catalog.
Click on “Catalog: books & more” on the left hand side of the KU Libraries home page.
From here, click where it says “Set other search limits” in the lower right hand corner of the search box.
There are a variety of ways you can limit your search in the online catalog including language, location, item type, and place of publication.

We are going to limit our search to only look for videos, dvds, and other projected media.

In the “item type” section, scroll down and highlight ‘Video/film/other projected media”. Click on “Set Limits”.
Notice that search limits are in effect.
This means that whatever search terms are entered, only items that are video, film, or other projected media will be returned in the results.
Let’s search for the film “Breakfast at Tiffany’s”. Be sure to select “Title” in the “Search By” options. Click “Search”.
This search returned two results. This means that we have two copies of this film, one of which is a DVD and the other is VHS.

Note the call number and the location of the item.

Most videos and DVDs check out for one week.
